ST GEORGE'S GARDENS

CITY & COUNTRY

WELCOME TO THE 1840, ST GEORGE'S GARDENS

Village living in the heart of South West London

INSPIRED BY HISTORY,
DESIGNED FOR TODAY

A truly impressive transformation of an iconic building into exceptional homes

The 1840, St George's Gardens is a breathtaking collection of luxurious 1, 2 and 3 bedroom conversion apartments located within an iconic Grade II listed building, in one of London's most desirable areas.

Combining period grandeur with contemporary styling, The 1840 makes for a truly spectacular place to call home. Each individually designed apartment has been restored sympathetically, in celebration of the architectural heritage of the building, and offers stylish living spaces with original Victorian features and a superior specification.

Properties also benefit from boutique communal areas, secure underground parking with electric car charging points, full use of the maintained gardens and a convenient concierge service.

Set amidst acres of magnificent landscaped grounds, nestled between the sought-after neighbourhoods of Tooting, Earlsfield, Balham and Wandsworth Common, this exquisite development promises an enviable lifestyle in an exclusive location.

The careful balance between the old and new and the painstaking steps to retain the character of this heritage property is apparent.

LIVING HISTORY

Embracing the past

This grand three-storey red brick building with its gabled roofs, parapets and embattled towers has long been a distinctive local landmark. Built in the Victorian era, with Tudor influences, it stands as a significant and well-preserved example of architecture from this time. Its completion date is emblazoned on its entrance in blue brick: 1840.

This former hospital was built on a 97-acre site owned by Henry Perkins, a wealthy brewer who obtained the freehold from the 2nd Earl Spencer. The extensive surrounding landscape shares the building's Grade II status and is of particular historical note because it is unusual for a building of this age to survive with its gardens largely intact.

The building's location in gently sloping parkland with a southerly aspect, was a direct response to the Victorian emphasis on access to fresh air and the therapeutic nature of the best quality outdoor space. Six generous airing courts adjacent to the wards afforded the patients private exercise, secured by sunken brick walls known as 'ha-has' - a device borrowed from eighteenth century country house design which preserved the impressive countryside views unencumbered.

An Inspiring Transformation
The 1840 is being carefully repaired to enhance the character of this large part of our cultural heritage. The restoration will see many of the exterior and interior features returned to their former glory such as the stone mullioned windows and the grand galleried staircase in the entrance hall.

The surrounding landscape will be reimagined. The sweeping drive, and the gently falling south-facing lawns and established parkland trees (including country house favourites such as the Cedar) will be taken in hand to create a series of outdoor oases, which together will create an impressive sense of place for residents and visitors alike.

Meticulous attention to, and the desire to preserve this historic place will result in a reinvigorated building that will be the focal point for a new community.

YOUR OWN PRIVATE OASIS

A unique sense of place

Take a moment every day to feel at one with nature, surrounded by the beauty of St George's Gardens.

Magnificent outdoor space is at the heart of the offering at The 1840, with approximately eight-acres of glorious private gardens providing a welcome retreat from busy city life. Expertly designed landscaping, cascading lawns, private courtyards and walled gardens, framed by mature trees and an array of colourful flowers and plants provide an exceptional environment for residents to enjoy all year round.

A 32-acre park will extend beyond the development, offering specially created trails, outdoor play areas, informal sporting fields and wetland areas to encourage wildlife and support biodiversity.

This unspoiled haven will be a great place to enjoy the delights of outdoor life and nature's changing seasons.
