Welcome to Hoxton Press

A note from Anthology's David Newey

Welcome to the next chapter in Anthology's story. Here, we focus on Hoxton and an exciting development of homes that will form a key part of the wider regeneration of the area.

Designed by renowned architects Karakusevic Carson and David Chipperfield, Anthology Hoxton Press takes its name from the site's former printing and crafts heritage. Previously home to The Mullord Brothers, it was here that they produced beautiful and intricate Victorian-era paper work between 1860 and 1920.

Hoxton was historically a centre for industry and manufacturing. This past is still noticeable by its warehouse architecture which started to become occupied by the famous 'Brit Art' scene towards the end of the 20th Century.

Galleries, media and design studios followed and by the turn of the century Hoxton was well on its way to becoming the vibrant and creative hub it is today.

Today Hoxton continues to flourish. A place renowned for starting trends, contemporary bars and shops sit alongside independent makers and artisans echoing the skills of the Mullord Brothers.

We welcome you to start your story with us here in Hoxton, a place that is Built from London.

WELCOME TO HOXTON

Home to an incredible number of artists' studios, design and tech businesses and world-class galleries, Hoxton is a stimulating place to live and work. Independent bars, restaurants and boutiques sit alongside the unmistakable East End atmosphere of Hoxton Street Market while the open green space of Shoreditch Park and Regent's Canal provide relaxation away from the crowds. Take a weekend visit to the Geffrye Museum or meet up with friends at Proud East; a unique venue covering all tastes from cocktails to high-tea. Excellent schools and great transport links to the City, West End and beyond, make Hoxton the perfect home.

LEARNING & RECREATION

Hoxton gives you access to a host of educational facilities ranging from the academic to the alternative. TripSpace projects provide timetables for dance and yoga classes to keep your mind and body in shape. Why not hone your craft in pottery at the Turning Earth studio? They offer classes from total beginners to professional artists in an open-access format. If you want to try something really different, the Acro 6 circus fitness course at the National Centre for Circus Arts provides training in acrobatics. In an academic sense, Hackney is home to a wide range of schools and colleges, many of Ofsted Outstanding status. There is access to a wide range of Universities in the area including St Martins at Kings Cross and UCL in Euston.

ARTS & CULTURE

Hoxton is synonymous with the Brit Art scene and a trend-setting hub popular with contemporary art and culture lovers from all over the world. Since Jay Jopling opened his ground-breaking White Cube gallery back in 2000 on Hoxton Square, the area has attracted a host of innovative artists and galleries. Jealous Gallery is a contemporary gallery, print publisher and printing studio where you can see and buy some of the city's best art from artists like Charming Baker and Ben Eine. Hundred Years Gallery is an emerging, dynamic art space that supports experimental art from both London based and international artists. There are also weekly concerts of new, improvised and experimental music in its excellent acoustic setting. For performance art, the Rosemary Branch tavern is a classic venue. Hosting live drama since the 1600s and once a Victorian music hall, it's a great place to experience local theatre or just enjoy a drink in historic surroundings.

Anthology Hoxton Press

Located on the corner of Penn Street and Bridport Place, Anthology Hoxton Press consists of two hexagonal towers of 16 and 20 storeys. Together they house 198 private homes with a choice of one & two bedroom apartments, and twelve three bedroom penthouse apartments, six with their own rooftop terrace. On the ground floor of Mono tower you can find a public cafe whilst in the basement there are 35 car parking spaces available for purchasers.

Colville Estate Regeneration

The Colville Estate Regeneration will see 438 existing council homes demolished and re-provided as part of a mixed use masterplan of 925 new homes. Karakusevic Carson Architects were appointed in 2011 by London Borough of Hackney to lead the process and Anthology are developing the private tenure towers on Phase 3.

Mono and Duo Towers have been designed by Karakusevic Carson Architects and David Chipperfield Architects and they are the gateway buildings into the estate from Shoreditch Park to the South.

A PHASE 1

Bridport House was Phase 1 of the Colville Estate Regeneration. It was completed in 2011, and comprises of 41 apartments.

The Colville Estate has a strong community spirit, and Karakusevic Carson Architects harnessed this energy to ensure that the residents were involved in the design and planning process. It was important for the residents to be involved from the outset of this 10-12 year project. The Residents voice continues to be integral to the Estates ongoing evolution.

B PHASE 2

Phase 2 is at the center of the current works taking place on the Colville Estate. It is made up of low-rise buildings arranged around a central podium garden with undercroft car parking being provided beneath.

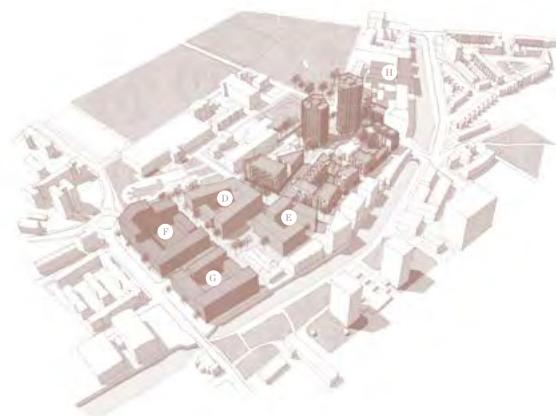

C PHASE 3

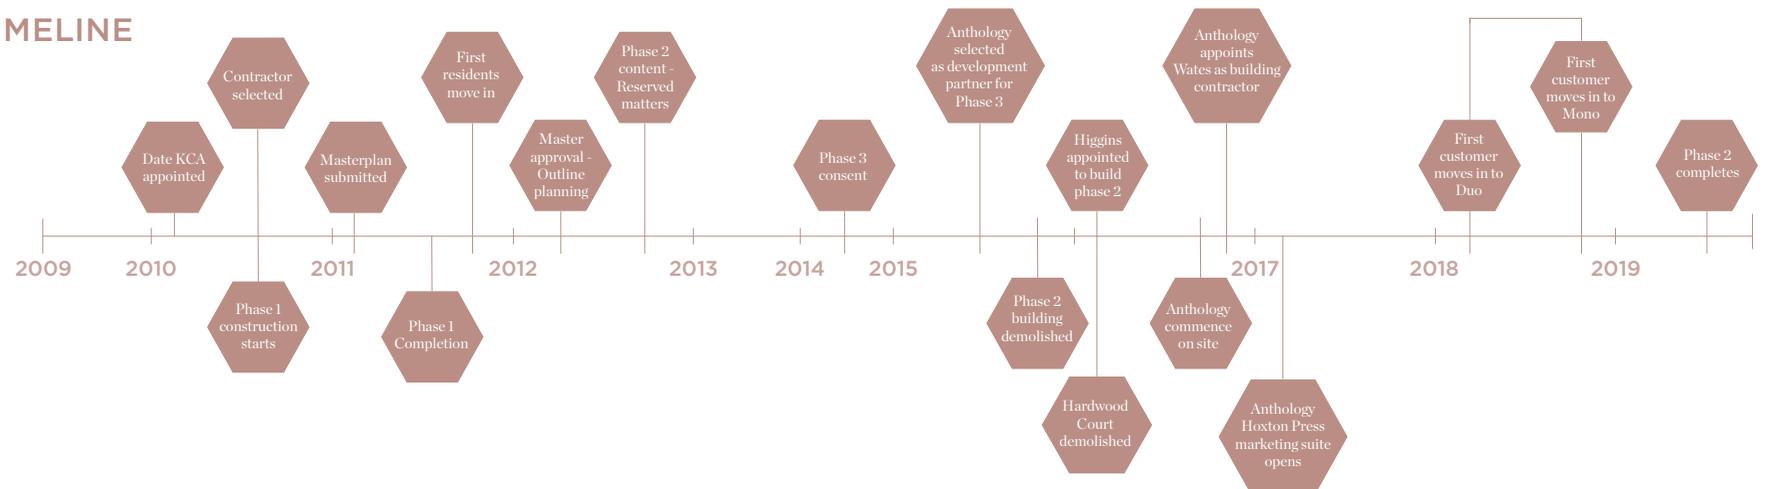

Mono and Duo Towers have been designed in a collaboration between Karakusevic Carson Architects and David Chipperfield Architects. The 20 and 16 storey towers provide 198 Private homes. The sale of these apartments helps to pay for the construction of other homes in later phases of the Colville Estate Regeneration.

TIMELINE

THE ARCHITECTURE

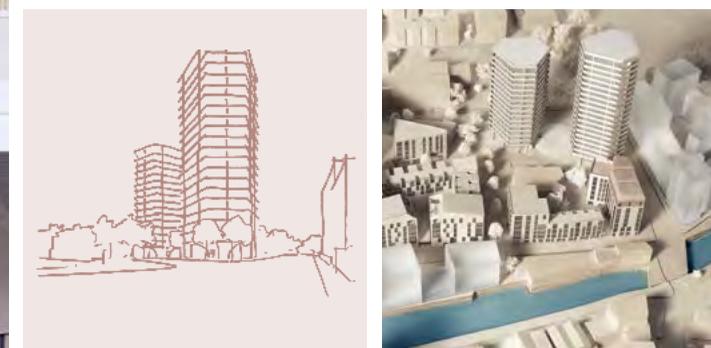

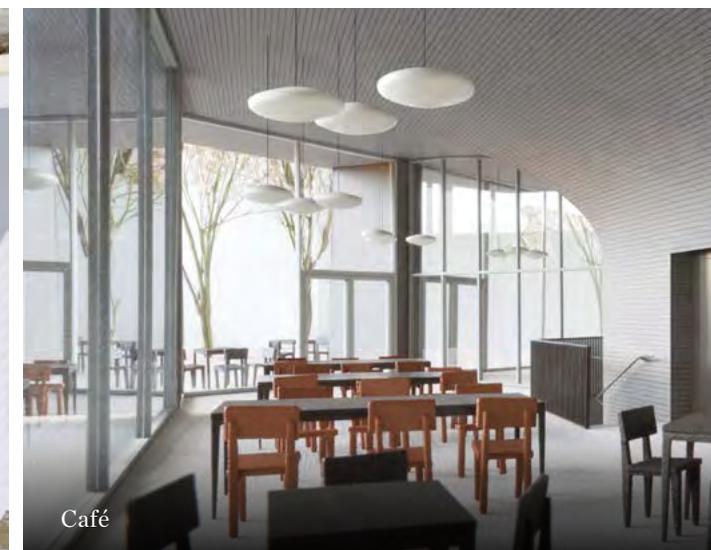

Karakusevic Carson Architects have been involved in the Colville Estate Project for 10 years and are working collaboratively with David Chipperfield Architects on the site of Hoxton Press.

As part of a borough-wide regeneration programme the 198 private homes will partly cross-subsidise the construction of 450 affordable homes.

The two hexagonal buildings will be part of a wider master-plan and form an intrinsic link to the wider neighbourhood by connecting Shoreditch Park, local housing and the nearby Regent's Canal. Their shape is designed to maximize light to neighbours whilst creating dual-aspect views from the inside.

The ground floor lobbies have floor to ceiling glazing which allow views across the surrounding area and a public cafe with outdoor space provides a social area for meeting and greeting friends and family.

HISTORY

- The site was previously home to the Mullord Brothers who produced paper products including lace paper greeting cards, dish papers and playing cards
- They moved to the site in the 1860's and remained there for at least 60 years
- Predating them, the area was used for leisure activities such as archery in the 16th Century and used to be part of Finsbury Fields

THE SITE

- The site represents the third phase of Hackney Council's regeneration of the Colville Estate
- Phase 3 extends to approximately 0.93 acres (0.38 hectares), part of the estate's regeneration master plan which extends approximately 11.98 acres (4.85 ha)
- The development is positioned immediately to the north of Shoreditch park and the south of Regent's Canal

Our Promise

GETTING TO KNOW EACH OF OUR CUSTOMERS PERSONALLY

We want to treat people as we wish to be treated ourselves. We listen to our customers and are committed to understanding their needs, so we can delight them with our service.

TAKING PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR OUR CUSTOMERS' NEEDS

Every one of us at Anthology is personally responsible for fulfilling the needs of our customers. If a customer contacts Anthology, the person who receives the contact will take responsibility for seeing that their questions are answered.

ACKNOWLEDGING AND REWARDING CUSTOMER LOYALTY

We believe that by understanding our customers and providing outstanding service, they will recommend us to their friends. When they do this, we will reciprocate with genuine appreciation.

CARING ABOUT OUR NEIGHBOURS

We take responsibility to create homes that enhance neighbourhoods for our customers and their neighbours to enjoy. As well as knowing our customers, we are committed to knowing the communities in which we work. We will strive to earn the trust of our neighbours and we want them to be able to openly credit the places we create.

TAKING CARE OF TOMORROW BY BEING SUSTAINABLE TODAY

We are committed to being sustainable and we know our customers want to be too. We will take the time to explain the sustainability features of the new homes we create and help our customers to live there in a sustainable manner.

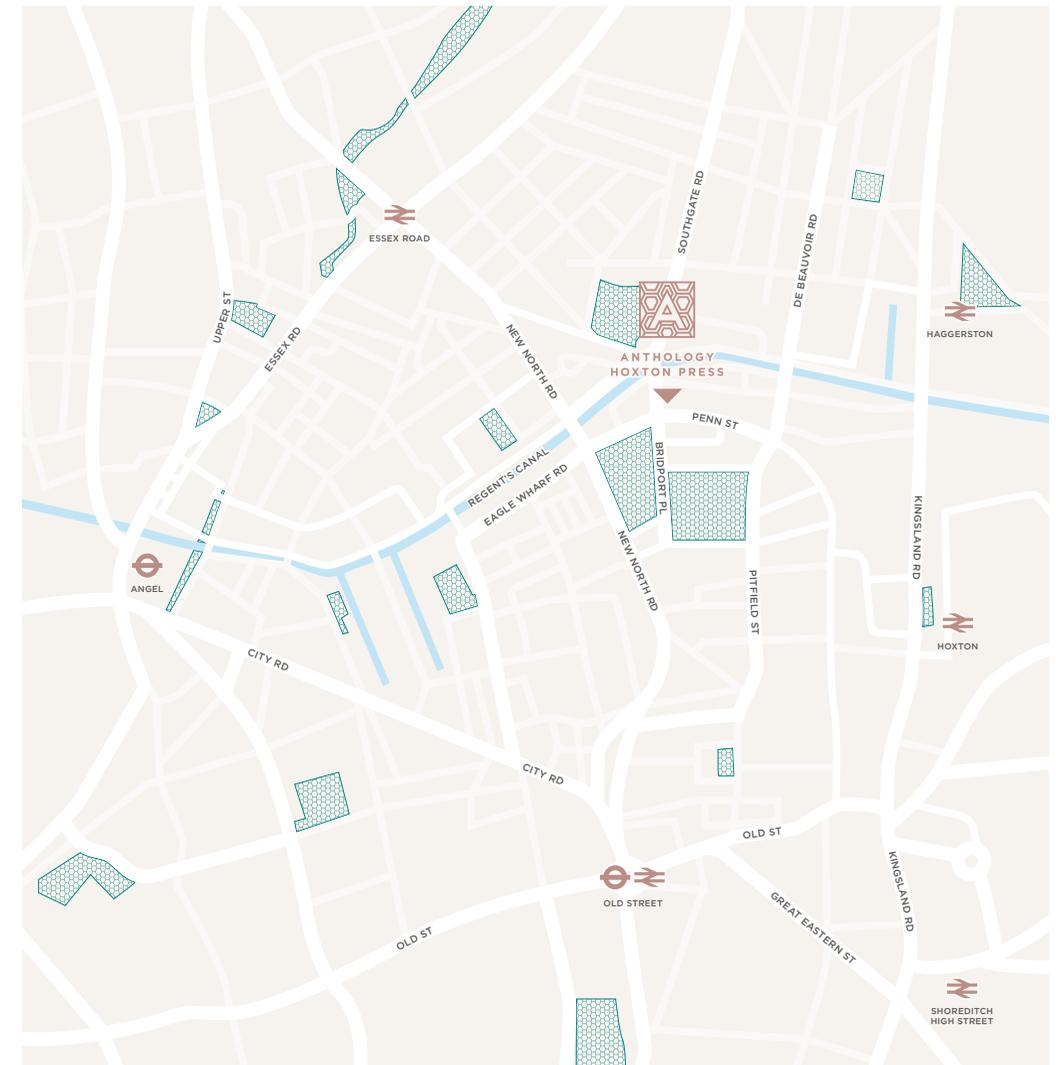

CARING ABOUT THE LEGACY WE LEAVE BEHIND

When our customers buy an Anthology home, they are contributing to a story that will grow and create lasting value, both for themselves and for the community around them. We are conscious of the legacy we leave behind and we want to be known for creating outstanding places for Londoners to live in.
